THE REVISED PLATFORM.

The Post-Dispatch publishes to-day the Chicago platform as finally revised and authorized by the Democratic National Committee. The platform as it now stands is in the shape in which it will go down into history, and as it will be a history making platform, readers will do well to cut it out and carefully preserve it.

Readers who have the copy of the platform as put forth by Official Senator Dickinson will note that what is known as the Hill amendment, which he included in his copy, is now omitted. This sentence was not in the platform as originally published. It was offered as an amendment to the plank demanding legislation to prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract. The amendment read as follows:

But it should be carefully provided by law, at the same time, that any change in the monetary standard should not apply to existing contracts.

It was the almost unanimous opinion of those who attended the convention that this amendment was defeated. Senator Hill himself being positive that it failed of adoption. After a thorough investigation of the matter, the Democratic National Committee has decided that the amendment was defeated, thus leaving the plank in its original form.

There are a few minor changes that no one after the purport or spirit of the platform. The Third Term resolution has been put back so as to follow the resolution on the Improvement of Waterways, as it stood in the platform when first published.

The authorized platform is practically the same as was published in the Daily Post-Dispatch of July 12 and in the Weekly Post-Dispatch of July 16.

On this platform the Democratic party will win the greatest victory of the nineteenth century. On this platform the right of the American people to rule themselves will be vindicated.

ILLINOIS AND BRYAN.

The New York Herald's poll of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey is not worth the paper used in its preparation, but it has done what it was intended to do, given New York, New Jersey and Connecticut to McKinley by large majorities, all on paper.

If New York, Connecticut and New Jersey had cast every electoral vote they could control against the Democrats in 1892 that party would still have been victorious. As these States have no greater electoral strength now than then the Democratic party could afford to lose them all and still win the election, if it can hold the other States it carried four years ago.

It will carry every one of them with the possible exception of Wisconsin. Against the possible loss of Wisconsin it sets the certain gain of the purely silver States with 25 votes and agricultural States West of the Mississippi River almost equally sure for the party on the silver issue.

Illinois is the battleground. And Bryan will win.

THE CONDUIT BILLS.

Now that the Municipal Assembly has adjourned, after passing the Keyes and Sutter conduit bills, the duty devolves upon Mayor Walbridge to examine with all possible care these two important bills, and to veto one or both of them if in his judgment, the city's interests demand it. The Post-Dispatch has pointed out, the Sutter bill seems to create a monopoly. It also appears to be in violation of the Supreme Court's decision in regard to subletting. The provision that the company must provide space for wires of other corporations, upon reasonable terms, is a practical permission to sublet. And the provision that the compensation is to be fixed by arbitration, without the arbitrators' decision being made binding, seems to give the Sutter company the power to exclude others by demanding impossible terms.

The compromise clause in the Keyes bill is also open to objection. It appears to grant a privilege to the Edison Illuminating Co. for which the city gets no adequate return.

The Mayor should take the best legal advice upon these and other difficult points in the conduit bills, and should bear in mind that while it is desirable to get the wires buried as soon as possible, the city cannot afford to make a mistake in this important step.

MORE BONDS AND MORE TAXES.

The Republican party and its candidates are pledged to "maintain the existing gold standard" until England and other countries consent to legislation opening our mint to the coining of silver as well as of gold.

This being the case—and McKinley having at last accepted the issue made for him by his Wall street backers—it is incumbent on Republicans to tell how the gold standard is to be maintained.

If they say that the silver dollar is "worth only 53 cents," then they must either withdraw it from circulation or redeem it in gold. If they say the Treasury notes are "flat paper," then they must be purchased with gold and withdrawn from circulation or continuously redeemed in gold. Otherwise, they must face the alternative of stultifying themselves, of repudiating the wild and foolish utterances which now characterize the campaign they are making under Wall street direction, or else they must face the alternative of completely bankrupting the country by continuing to make one bond issue after another to make the speculative demand for gold.

There are only two ways of meeting this demand. One is by breaking the gold corner and re-establishing bimetallism as the Democrats propose. The Democrats will not buy another dollar of gold from the speculators that may be immediately withdrawn from the Treasury by these same speculators and sold back at an advancing premium. As soon as Bryan goes into the White House that criminal folly, that worst stupidity in the finance of modern times, will stop. But McKinley is pledged to continue it.

The consequences of its continuance would be continued depression, characterized by constantly recurring panics.

When the Treasury bids for gold it bids against business.

When the Government of the United States offers a premium for withdrawing money from circulation, the price paid is taken out of agriculture, of railroading, of the real estate business, of house-building, of manufacturing, of all other forms of industry.

Activity in all lines except brokerage and speculation is checked as soon as the Government begins to bid up the price of money by offering bonds for gold.

The interest paid on the bonds becomes at once a premium on the gold to be paid by new taxes on the people.

Worse than this, the gold itself, as it is forced higher, measures a forced decrease in the rewards of the labor of the people so that they are the less able to pay the new taxes imposed on them.

But instead of more money to do business in a country which is threatened with prostration by a corner in gold, all McKinley has to propose is more taxes.

In order to maintain the existing gold standard all he can do will be to issue more bonds!

It is to this that Chauncey M. Depew, Russell Sage, Perry Belmont and Mark Hanna invite the American people—to four years of more taxes and more bonds—a remedy for the evils already produced by too much taxation and over issues of bonds.

FORCE THE FIGHT IN ILLINOIS.

When the seals on the Treasury vaults of the State of Illinois were broken, after the death of Rufus N. Ramsay, among the notes and other evidences of debt found there was the personal note of John R. Tanner, now the Republican candidate for Governor of the State.

No personal note of John P. Altgeld; no due bill signed by him; no evidence of his indebtedness to the Treasurer or to the State, was found there.

It is clear to the Post-Dispatch that the insinuation, now being made, that evidences of Altgeld's indebtedness had been removed and destroyed during the interim between the death of Ramsay and the opening of the vaults is for the purpose of tarring Altgeld with the Tanner stick; of robbing the Democratic candidate of his power of assault, and saving the Republican candidate from being forced into a defensive position. Democratic renegades have been selected to do this work. It has always been a part of the policy of Tammany in Illinois to use Democratic agents for the promotion of Republican ends.

Upon Governor Altgeld depends the success or failure of this plan. Let him charge, what the record shows, that John R. Tanner helped to loot the State Treasury. This will not be insinuation. It will not be conjecture. It will not be suspicion. It will not be an unworthy shift or device to compromise any man. It will be in the line of duty of the chief executive of the State and in the line of honorable policy of a candidate against whom the most cowardly and unworthy assault in the history of Illinois politics has been made.

It will carry every one of them with the possible exception of Wisconsin. Against the possible loss of Wisconsin it sets the certain gain of the purely silver States with 25 votes and agricultural States West of the Mississippi River almost equally sure for the party on the silver issue.

Illinois is the battleground. And Bryan will win.

THE COAL TRUST.

The small retail coal dealers are up in arms against the local combine of big firms which promises to "hog" all the profits in the coal business. This protest is natural, but where does the public come in? Neither the big firms that have formed a trust nor the small retailers are taking the consumer into consideration. If the little fellows succeed in forcing the trust to give them a share in the spoils, the consumer will be forced more unmercifully to make up for the concession.

It will be noticed that it is a coming between St. Louis and dealers and Illinois coal mine owners. This makes the trust an interstate affair, and as such the Federal authorities ought to take action against it. There is little likelihood that they will do so. The trusts are firmly entrenched as far as Federal interference is concerned, while the present Wall Street Administration stays in Washington.

We call the attention of Attorney-General Moloney to these Illinois coal mine owners. They are defying the Illinois anti-trust laws by going into this combination with St. Louis coal dealers. Without their connivance, the St. Louis combine would hardly be worth forming.

Attorney-General Moloney has shown that he can bring a trust to terms. He will be performing a public service by looking into this one.

The St. Louis Retail Dealers' Association should learn a valuable lesson

from the present state of affairs. It shows the tendency of trusts to reduce all small dealers to the ranks of the wage-earners and employees. They must side with the people to down the trusts or they will be forced out of business and become mere competitors in an already over-charged labor market.

The Republic says of its August circulation that it "increased rapidly through the month." Taking its own figures as shown on another page of the same issue, they show for the second six weeks a decrease of $82 over the first six weekdays of the month. Likewise a decrease of $23 for the third six weekdays, and the last six weekdays show an average increase of just $03 over the first six days. For its Sunday edition, the figures show a decrease every Sunday, except the last Sunday, which shows a small excess of $14 over the first Sunday in the month. This is what the Republic means a rapid increase. What little increase is shown came from a distribution of free papers to boom their gift scheme.

Men of MARK.

Mr. Dwight L. Moody will largely withdraw from usual evangelistic work and devote himself to furnishing the 750,000 prisoners in the United States with good literature, chiefly religious.

The Czar has his weak moments. Not long ago a French stamp collector sent him a letter begging for a complete set of Russian stamps. The Czar wrote on this letter, "To you is given what you want."

Baron de Menvel, who took down vast quantities of Napoleon's dictation, preserved the following sample of his wit:

"You Frenchmen are not in earnest about anything, except, perhaps, equality; and even this you would gladly give up if you were sure of yourself being the first."

Charles Broadway Rous, the wealthy New Yorker who has offered $1,000,000 for the restoration of his failing sight, was a Maryland farmer's boy and reached New York with hardly the price of a meal in his pocket. He has made and lost several fortunes and is now a millionaire several times over. He is always down at his store before his clerks. He fought on the Confederate side during the war and has recently lent in the first place.

How Mr. McKinley could have voted in 1873 to pay the bonds in silver, and can now work for the enemies of the money of the Constitution, somewhat bewilders the average voter. No wonder Wall Street distrusted the Ohio man until he had planted himself squarely on the gold plank.

Women of Note.

Lady Georgiana Grey, aunt of Earl Grey, is a vivacious Englishwoman, whose number nearly 100. She manages to keep informed on politics and current events by having guests to dinner almost every night.

The President of the German League for the Prevention of Killing Birds for Decorative Purposes is a woman named Agnes Engel. At the International Congress of Perth she delivered a lecture and pointed out the wanton destruction of birds to gratify modes of the moment.

A great lady of the second empire has just died in Paris, the widow of Duke de Morny, Napoleon III's Foreign Minister. She was a Russian Princess Troubetzkoy, and after Morny's death married the Spanish Duke de Sesto. She was the mother of the present Duke de Morny, who married Guzman Blanco's daughter.

SOLEMNITIES.

The wife of Mr. McKinley in 1878 to pay the bonds in silver must be fresh in his memory, yet he is now in the hands of the bond sharks to do their work as they may choose to lay it out for him.

SOLEMNITIES.

New Way to Propose—"Will you go with me on my wedding trip, miss?"—"Fillegele Blatter.

Misplaced Magnetism—"I know a fellow that could tame a tiger with a glance of his eye."

"What became of him?"—"He's dead. He tried it on a bicycle scorch."

Pruyn: In society the gentleman should always be presented to the lady. Miss Clark: But that doesn't apply when the gentleman is a man of rank. Pruy: N; o; he must be so small that the third term idea could not fit.

It falsehoods had weight, the telegraph wires would break down with the reports that the Hanna people are industriously sending out.

An American warship in the Golden Horn ought to mean a bimetallic combination of lead and iron against Turkey.

Senator Hill—the Hon. David Peanut Hill of New York—is still at Wolfer's Roost. But he has come off the perch.

Uncle Jim Broadhead is not yet as shrewd a Gould-bug as Cow-corner Lehman, but he is learning fast.

Any shrewd Democrat will decline the rump Presidential nomination. It means political death for the nominee.

Wrapped as he is in an aura of philanthropy, all smells are to Col. Ed Butler at the altar of roses.

The bulldozing employer is pressing down upon the brow of labor the crown of thorns.

Caesar's ambition was a feeble vice compared with J. M. Trimble's.

To yank down Trimble at this stage of the game would be cruel.

If Mark Hanna had a good cause he would need much less money.

Every bulldozing employee should assert his manhood at the polls.

Short-Notice Converts.

From the Washington Post.

Come, come! The Administration organs should not be too hard on the converts to the silver cause. It is easily recalled that a great many members of the Administration were converted to gold on short notice.

CAR WORKS SHUT DOWN.

GREAT SHOPS AT MADISON, ILL., HAVE BEEN CLOSED.

ALL SORTS OF QUEER RUMORS.

Secretary Brigham Says the Suspension Is Caused by Nothing Else Than a Scarcity of Orders.

The Madison Car Co.'s works at Madison, Ill., have closed down for an indefinite period. The reason given by the management for this stop is a lack of orders.

The shut-down throws out of employment about 500 men. For several months the concern has been running with short force. During the spring there were employed there between 1,300 and 1,500, but as summer came on a large reduction in the force was forced to be necessary.

Madison is vitally interested in the welfare of the works, and their closing and the somewhat irregular manner in which the affairs were wound up have led many to ask questions as to the concern's condition and its management.

Arthur P. Brigham, Secretary of the company, says many of the officers now in the city, maintain strenuously, however, that everything is as straight as a string, and that nothing will be resented under suspicion of orders.

After looking to a complete shut down, were commenced about three weeks ago, and the works were closed and laid off. As the orders in hand were finished, other departments were also closed. The men were left working short time, naturally the last to go. The men told a speech to that they would not be needed after Saturday.

At this time where the trouble began leading up to the rumors of irregularity.

On Saturday P. E. Murphy failed to make good on his promise to pay the men.

He said he was away from St. Louis, and had no money to pay them.

At any rate he was not on hand to pay the men their money. In place of cash they received checks denoting the sum due them for wages.

This gave additional impetus to the tongue of the men.

That afternoon Secretary Brigham showed up. He had a stranger with him who proved to be an expert on orders. Brigham had brought him from St. Louis.

The safe-blower proceeded to open the safe and extract all the papers in it. With the safe-blower's help he got to St. Louis after assuring the men that they would get their money Monday. He explained to them that the only trouble had been that Murphy had prevented them from making up the pay roll.

This safe-blowing incident was new food for speculation, and a sort of strike was started. One was to the effect that the close down came from the suspicion of the management that straw gangs had been put on the payroll, but from no authoritative source has there been any confirmation of this rumor.

Mr. Brigham positively denies that such is the case.

The Secretary kept his word strictly so far as concerns the payment of the men. They got their money either Monday or Tuesday and express themselves as being satisfied.

A Post-Dispatch reporter went to Madison to see what the state of affairs was.

Mr. Murphy had disappeared from the office of the works. The men said that since it was known positively that he had the combination of the safe, it was impossible to find him.

Foreman Alexander at the car shops stated that Paymaster Murphy could be found at the office of the Paymaster's company in St. Louis. He stated that Murphy had reported at the office Tuesday morning.

At first Alexander professed utter ignorance of the state of affairs. At last he declared that the whole trouble was due to Murphy having been a swindler. He said that Murphy disappeared and as he was the only one who had the combination of the safe, it was impossible to find him.

Finally Murphy was found and the combination of the safe recovered from him. When the safe was opened it was impossible to get access to the inner compartments and an expert was brought over to drill them open.

Alexander declared he knew nothing whatever of any "straw men" having been placed on the pay roll and did not credit the report.

"Have you seen Mr. Murphy since you secured the combination to the safe from him?" he replied.

"Oh yes, I have seen him several times."

"Was his absence due to a spree?"

"I am sure he was probably trying."

He was asked about the rumors that the pay roll had been doctored with fictitious names.

"I never heard of that until this morning," he replied.

"Are you investigating?"

"We do not think it necessary. I do not believe the pay roll could be manipulated without our discovering it on account of the checks we have issued."

"Merely a lack of orders." We find out the work we are doing and then shut down. It is impossible to say when operations will be resumed.

Secretary Brigham showed considerable hesitancy during the interview, but finally agreed to go into details.

The Madison business was founded in 1861. It is one of the biggest concerns in its kind in the country, and the men interested in the firm wealth.

The president of the company is L. M. Rumsey; Vice-President, C. D. McLure; Treasurer, Paul Fuss.

It was founded in 1861. In 1863 when the panic came on it got into difficulties but soon pulled out and has been quite successful since.

MORE THAN HE LOST.

Steve Kaimer Found It Profitable to Be Robbed.

Steve Kaimer, who lives at 408 North Eleventh street, lost $100 Monday and the police returned $5 to him.

John and August Rose, one 9 and the other 12 years old, were arrested Monday by a policeman, while trying to get a $2 bill charged at a grocery store on Prairie Avenue. Their mother conducts the boarding-house where Kaimer lives. After being locked up for an hour they admitted stealing $50 out of a bureau drawer in Kaimer's room. The police found $25 hidden in the cellar under a butcher-shop at Twentieth and Penrose streets, and $30 concealed under a bench at the Fair Grounds. That made $45 and the boys had made $5.

The entire amount was given to Kaimer. He declined to prosecute and the prisoners were released.

KIND-HEARTED LITTLE ONES.

Gave a Successful Entertainment for the Olive Street Home.

Tender-hearted children, aged from 8 to 10 years, have turned over to the Post-Dispatch $25, the proceeds of an entertainment given Monday afternoon at 155 School street for the benefit of the home of the Children's Society at 1622 Olive street. The little ones read of the distress of the boys and girls of their own age, who were in the home, in need of food and clothing. Then the children worked hard to better the children's condition. Their success was phenomenal. The programme was as follows:

"A Patriotic Proposal," by the Misses Ida Silverstone and Agnes Clarkson; "Hose & Hom," by Miss Nettie Donnelly; "The Little Girl Who Lived in the Boys," by Miss Little Silverstone; piano solo, "Titania"; by Miss Ida Silverstone; "Yankee Doodle," by Miss Agnes Clarkson; "The Marionette," by Miss Little Silverstone; duet, "Bashful Suitor," by Misses Little and Ida Silverstone; "Fortune Teller," by Misses Ida Silverstone, Arnes Clarkson and Nellie Sutler; "McKinley Dance," by Misses Little and Ida Silverstone; "Never Give Up," by Misses Clarkson; masquerade tableau, by entire cast; "Fiddling Winks," by the Misses J. G. Gillespie and Julia Donnelly; recitation, "The Girl," by Miss Ida Silverstone; dance gavotte, by Miss Little Silverstone; piano solo, "Sweet Expectations," by Miss Ida Silverstone; "The Baby's Child," with characters by Misses Ida and Little Silverstone; "Sleeping Beauty" tableau, poses by Miss Ida Silverstone.

IGNORED UNCLE SAM.

The Master of the Mayflower Didn't Reply to the Suit.

The United States authorities were set at defiance by the master of a steamboat Monday evening, and they are vowing that if ever Capt. Cairns comes into the St. Louis harbor with the Mayflower again they will beach the boat rather than let him get away.

Frank Lewis, George Lewis, John Briggs, Henry Miller, William Jefferson, Conrad Oliver, Bud Barker and Edward Jamison, negro roosters, fowl, etc., for various reasons, were before the United States Commissioner Gray issued a summons for Capt. Cairns to appear and make answer.

Capt. Cairns got up and went South with the Mayflower Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Mayflower is a tramp boat, not connected with any line, and is bound for the Tennessee River.

As Capt. Cairns does not expect to come within the jurisdiction of the local authorities official for some time he can snap his fingers at them.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

A Postal Experiment Made Possible by the Bicycle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Shortly after the return this week of First Assistant Postmaster-General Jones from his vacation Superintendent of Free Delivery Maclay submitted a detailed plan for rural delivery. An item of $600 was carried in the last postal appropriation bill for this purpose. It was a hobby with Jones to make experiments in delivery, but the extraordinary expense which would have attended its general application prevented favorable consideration by Congress.

Since Mr. Wanamaker formulated his ideas the wonderful extension of trolley lines and the general adoption of the telephone have changed the situation. To test the plan of free rural delivery certain counties will be selected in a number of postal districts, consisting of small postal centers cities or large towns, and the smaller outlying postoffices will be treated practically as branches or stations of the main office.

There had been considerable drinking done by some of the employees, especially those directly under the men. They were feeling pretty blue over the outcome.

Foreman Alexander at the car shops stated that Paymaster Murphy could be found at the office of the Paymaster's company in St. Louis. He stated that Murphy had reported at the office Tuesday morning.

NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Complete Reorganization Effectuated in the West.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—The Northern Pacific reorganized, after an existence of three years and a few days, was ended at midnight when all property of the former Northern Pacific Railroad Co. passed under the management of the new Northern Pacific Railway Co. The officers at this end who go out with the receivership are: Miss Habel tells a straightforward story of her experience at the Well. It is the story of many another innocent girl who has lost her fate worse than death by a man she trusted.

Donnelly is in jail and Miss Habel is a sadder and wiser girl. Yet Cronin is doing his best to keep the girls from the saloon under a license to which he has no legal right. He wears diamonds and makes laws for the people and boasts of his honesty and integrity, and every girl is caught in his well lined net.

As long as Chief Harrigan and Excise Commissioners hold out the course they have in the recent past, Cronin will continue to thrive.

The Post-Dispatch is sure that there is no decent woman in this town who have raised their voices in an appeal for their children, but these officials still sit silent in their places.

Cronin is a person of very great prominence and must be protected.

TURKEY MUST MAKE AMENDS.

THE UNITED STATES TIRED OF THE SULTAN'S TRIFLING.

WAR SHIPS WILL BE SENT.

The Cincinnati and Other Vessels May
Back Up Mr. Terrell's Demands.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—The cruiser Cincinnati has been ordered to Constantinople. This action was taken to-day, and it is well understood that it is for the double purpose of making an imposing display of force if President Cleveland should deem it necessary and to relieve the Marblehead when Turkish affairs resume their normal condition.

Although the Navy Department has had this step in contemplation some time, it has created something of a sensation, coming immediately after the hasty fitting out of the miniature warship Bancroft.

It is expected that the Minneapolis will be ordered from Queenstown to join the San Francisco, Marblehead and Cincinnati outside the Dardanelles.

Naval officials affect to attach no especial significance to the order sending the Cincinnati to Constantinople, as the Marblehead has been a long time in those waters and the period of service of a number of men on that station has expired, and they desire to return to the United States.

The fact that these vessels are to rendezvous at Smyrna and go as a fleet to the Dardanelles gives rise to the impression that Minister Terrell will only await their arrival to make such demands upon the Turkish Government as may result in his immediate withdrawal from the city to take refuge upon warships sent to protect him.

Delay in paying American missionaries in Armenia for property destroyed by the Sultan's soldiers during the massacre, failure to keep promises and an apparent dilatation recently to adjust the matter at all, have made the State Department impatient, and it is known to be the fixed determination of both the President and Secretary Olney to exact payment in full for damages sustained by citizens of the United States.

TURKEY'S PARTITION.

Once More the Sultan Is Threatened by the Powers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 1.—The Embassies were not illuminated last night, the anniversary of the Sultan's accession to the throne. Owing to recent massacres the dragomans of the Embassies, while they went to Yildiz Kiosk to convey the good wishes of the Embassadors, were instructed to leave notes, which, although they congratulate the Sultan upon the anniversary of his accession to the throne, express deep regret at the recent outrages.

There is no longer any doubt that the massacres were organized by the Turkish authorities, and it has been ascertained that orders were only given to the Bashi Bazaar to cease massacring the Armenians after the bloody work had been going on for thirty hours.

It is also a fact that hundreds of Turks were brought over from the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus in order to take part in the massacres, and many Armenians were put in boats, which were then taken out to sea. Their fate is unknown, but there is not the slightest doubt that they have been drowned.

Although it may be true that the attack on the Ottoman Bank originated with the Armenian revolutionaries, it is equally true that it was committed on all sides that the massacres which followed were not justified, and that from 4,000 to 4,000 persons lost their lives in the streets of this city and those of the suburbs during the past week.

Experts are agreed that the Sultan has once more approached the European powers in point of forcing upon the Powers the necessity of dismembering the Turkish Empire.

The Powers, however, are agreed that the Powers asking the Turkish Government to suppress the disorder in this vicinity was responsible for the similar notes of the Powers regarding the massacre.

Even the hint that the Sultan is in danger in the Turkish Empire by permitting a continuation of the massacre, which has prevailed is not looked upon as likely to have more than passing effect upon the Sultan.

HANGED IN JAIL.

A Pittsburgh Murderer Pays the Supreme Penalty.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 1.—Joseph Gross was hanged in the County Jail yard at 10:15 o'clock this morning. Death was due to strangulation. The murderer walked to the gallows without flinching.

The crime for which Joseph Gross was hanged to-day was the murder of his sweetheart, Teresa Bobak, who had rejected him, after promising to be his wife. The killing took place on Jan. 8 last in a Greenfield boarding house. Gross, who was intoxicated at the time, asked the police to arrest her if she still refused to marry him. Upon her answering that she had not accepted him, he drew a pistol and shot her dead. He then shot himself in the left breast, but the wound was not serious. He was convicted on Feb. 18 and sentenced to be hanged. At first he was to be hanged, but was afterwards reprieved. After the sight of his death warrant, he became reconciled to his crime, and said he preferred death on the gallows rather than a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment or even a term of twenty years.

FRANK MORRIS HANGED.

Soldiers Sent There to Guard the Re-lief Warehouses.

CALUMET, Mich., Sept. 1.—Col. Lyons and the company of picked men from the Fifth Regiment left this morning for Ontonagon, where they will guard the sumptuous funerals for the victims of last Tuesday's conflagration. Hundreds of thieves have flocked there from Duluth and other points, and the officers of the law have been unable to save the warehouse from being plundered by the vultures.

Two Colored Berry Walls.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—Alexander R. Molnayre, 26 years old, son of D. C. Molnayre, general freight agent of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company, committed suicide this morning. The weapon used was a shotgun. The act was committed in a room over the Detroit and Cleveland Company's offices at the foot of Superior street. The motive for the deed is not known.

SILVER FOR TEXAS.

It Will Go From the Sub-Treasury to Pay Cotton Pickers.

Texas bankers and merchants will be happy when they hear of an order just received by Sub-Treasurer Small from Washington. It directs a suspension of the rule which requires shipments of coin to be made from the Sub-Treasury that is nearest the consignee.

Now that the cotton-picking season has begun Texas bankers are drawing on their St. Louis correspondents for from $5,000 to $30,000 in silver every day. The St. Louis banks deposit currency to the account of the Texas banks in the local Sub-Treasury, but heretofore Mr. Small has been unable to make direct shipments of the coin to the Texans.

The rule which required shipments to be made from the nearest Sub-Treasury, because the Government charged extra shipping charges, obliged Mr. Small to mail an order to the New Orleans Sub-Treasury to ship to the Texan banks deposit currency to the account of the coin by the Texas banks.

At the cotton-picking season the Texan banks protest against the shipments of silver from New Orleans. They did business with St. Louis and are anxious to do the same with St. Louis.

The plotters at first in their attempt to make McKinley President.

The "sound money" headquarters in the Knickerbocker Building were opened early Tuesday morning to receive the county delegates and Broadhead rosters, but few put in an appearance. Most of them it seems were well equipped with passes before they came in. The hotel was so full that there was a delay of at least two days in the receipt of the coin by the Texas banks.

The Treasury Department has agreed to stand the extra express charges and from the present date until October the St. Louis Sub-Treasury will ship about $20,000 in silver every day to Texas.

MR. KING WEAKENED.

Withdrew His Suit for Divorce, but Won't Say Why.

It may have been gratitude and admiration of a heroic act that actuated Harry B. King or it may have been a realization of the difficulty attending his divorce suit against Mrs. Mildred King that influenced him to dismiss it Tuesday.

Just what the reason was Mr. King's lawyers do not know. In view of Mrs. King having saved her husband's life about a month ago, he is inclined to believe that gratitude actuated him.

Mrs. King insists, however, that there is no reconciliation in prospect.

The withdrawal of the suit closes a series of sensational episodes. The first was when the parents of King and Mildred separated a year and a half ago, and the second was when King and Mildred were called to the Spanish-American War.

He and his wife lived two blocks from King's parents. Mrs. King's mother, who was a widow, died last month.

When the marriage became known there was a separation and King sued for divorce on sensational grounds.

Then came the sensational attempt of Mrs. King to rescue her husband, who was being captured by the Spanish. The affair was described at length in the Post-Dispatch at the time.

PEABODY HOLDS THE FORT.

Another Squabble Over the Possession of Court Rooms.

Judge Peabody says he will hold as the court room of the Third District Police Court the room designated as the Criminal Court No. 2 until Sept. 14 against all efforts of Judge Harvey of Court No. 2 to insist on Peabody going back to his room in the basement, as the carpenters, plasterers and painters are still working on it.

To-day, however, the new Delegate Humrich said: "This talk about pulling off the State ticket is all nonsense. We would like to see such a proposition. We put it up and stick to such a proposition. We are not going to stop after declaring ourselfs for a State ticket and it carried for a State ticket, and his side won't be able to do that."

He favored the independent action to give the people a choice between the State ticket and the national ticket.

RAILROAD WASHOUTS.

Disastrous Floods Along the Atlantic and Pacific.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 1.—Participants of the big washout on the Atlantic & Pacific, which have tied up passenger and freight trains for the past three or four days, have been given by their headquarters here.

On the night of Aug. 28 heavy rains extended along the road from Haskberry to Siberia, a distance of 187 miles, and the track was washed badly in more than 100 places. The washout was between five and six miles of side water. The Atlantic & Pacific's 100-foot piling bridge is gone, as well as several smaller bridges between Benson and Yuma. Two large bridges are carried away and an eight-foot fill of one mile and a quarter is washed out.

The through train service has been kept up by routing trains over other lines. It is hoped to have the road repaired so that trains can run over it by Wednesday next.

IN GOOD SHAPE.

Col. Paul Moore Says Southeast Misouri's All Right.

Col. Paul B. Moore of the State Democratic Committee went up from Southeast Missouri Tuesday to consult with Chairman Sam C. Cook with regard to getting speakers for his section. "My party is in good shape down my way," he said, "and the chances are we will poll an immense vote." A large number of silver Republicans have come in from the South. Mississippi County there are five or six gold-colored Democrats who say they will vote for McKinley. But he said he got twelve times as many Republicans for Bryan.

Morris was a neighbor and had been a witness for the defense. Morris had money sewed about his person. When Morris was at work alone in his farm, Morris, he claimed, behind and shot him, but only got $38. He was arrested in the house, but only got $38. Morris was a cheap novel find and at no time showed concern about his fate.

Method of Suicide Adopted by a Cleve-

Burnett Linder and Charles Spotts, two very swell young negroes, police officers, were found dead in their rooms in the Hotel Royal, on Tuesday morning, for disturbing each other's privacy. They became involved in a dispute Monday at the boarding house at Twenty-first and Chestnut Streets. Spotts was on Linder's side, had a cane and Linder's coat. The negro who shot the two police officers was a negro who shot the two police officers.

Ordered Out of Town.

THEIR TICKET DISCUSSED.

The Opinion Is General That They Made a Mistake in Nominating State Officers.

The Missouri contingent of Boilermakers left noon Tuesday on the Knickerbocker special of the Big Four for Indianapolis.

In that city the Wall street aids will begin a convention Wednesday with the purpose in view of giving Mr. Hanna and his colleagues a chance to make up the difference in the reception of the coin by the Texas banks.

At the cotton-picking season the Texan banks protest against the shipments of silver from New Orleans. They did business with St. Louis and are anxious to do the same with St. Louis.

It was Sunday afternoon and Li Hung Chang had just returned from a visit to the tomb of Gen. Grant. He was tired and hastily undressing his valet he divested himself of his yellow jacket and other outer garments. Donning his favorite suit of silk pajamas he seated himself upon a lounge and then gazed caustically about him. His thoughtful and admiring interpreter sat beside him and whispered words of encouragement to him. Li mentioned his interpreter and whispered a few words in his ear. The interpreter called a bell boy and ordered for the great violin.

The servant returned within a few minutes, but without the wine. He held a long cigarette impatiently with the interpreter. Li began to speak.

"What is the matter?" he asked.

"The boy wants to know what you will have to eat," he said.

"Bring me some chow-chow," he said.

"Glasses?" was the Ambassador's laconic reply.

"That's none of my business. If he don't want to eat, let him go," he said.

The interpreter inquired the reason and was then introduced into the mysterious working of the Railroads and the railroads of the country. Li gazed intently at the boy while sipping the wine, but he did not seem to know how much was worth, what his salary was; if he only worked Sundays, and where he made his bed, and whether he would still remain the next day.

The interpreter had mastered the provisions of the law, he explained them to the boy. The boy drew a sigh and reluctantly owned that he was not a good interpreter. In a twinkling he was served and as Li gazed intently at it while sipping the wine, he inquired all about Railroads and his doing.

Li was in the field now, thought he could successfully discuss a quart. Besides, his physical strength was excellent and his mind was sharp. He would go to the head of the line, and when over, would go to the chances of the drink, but with him would still remain the thirst.

BRYAN CLUB MEETING.

Democratic Speeches Made by Given
Campbell and Others.

The regular Monday evening meeting of the St. Louis Bryan Club was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by the President, Joseph W. Folk, at Jefferson Club Hall.

After the transaction of routine business, the president, with a few happy preliminary remarks, introduced Hon. Given Campbell. He was received with rousing cheers from the audience who were already packed the large hall.

For over an hour Mr. Campbell held the attention of his audience. He reviewed the Chicago platform and the reasons for the adoption of its several planks. In eloquent language he contrasted the nomination of the Democratic candidate, contrasting it with the cold, perfidious and unscrupulous conduct in nominating the "slave and servant of the trusts and monopolies, William McKinley."

He gave considerable attention to that plank of the platform in which the action of the Supreme Court on the income tax was discussed, and said that they uttered in the Chicago convention on this topic was mild and even flattering when compared with the uncompromising language contained in the uncompromising opinions of the dissenting judges.

He finally turned upon the relation of the laboring classes to the action of financial policy, and drew a vivid picture of the laboring man's condition both in this country and in other countries, and compared with what it was under a different financial policy, and with what it necessarily must be with the restoration of this policy. Mr. Campbell was followed by Frank G. Tyrell, who argued that the wealthy classes of the East had been for years endeavoring to keep the toiling millions of the country, Mr. Tyrell spoke for over an hour.

Mr. Phelps reported on the condition of the labor unions and a man in touch with the laboring classes, spoke eloquently of the every four years recurring solicitude of the wealthy classes of the East for the laboring classes. For three years and nine months continuous, they squeezed the working-man, and for the other three years before him the mirth of increases wages or the threat of no wages at all. In terse language Mr. Phelps said: "Bryan is not only the friend of the workingman, but also one who came from their ranks, and he does not understand how any workingman could be induced to work for Bryan, either through fear or favor. He said, in conclusion, that the only hope the laboring classes have is in the success of the free coinage of silver."

This was the fourth regular meeting of the Bryan Club. The attendance has been increasing each time, and now there are at least 600 people in the hall, most of whom were working men, who gave the speakers close attention and great appreciation. The Bryan Club meets every Monday evening and is doing effective work.

CHANGING FROM BLACK TO WHITE.

REMARKABLE TRANSFORMATION IN JAMES TYNER, A NEGRO.

MYSTERIOUS SKIN DISEASE.

Doctors Call It Leucoderma, but Little Is Known of Its Cause and Effect.

Dr. John H. Simon of 4223 Manchester avenue has discovered a case of vitiligo, or leucoderma, which he says is back against any similar case in this or any other country. His patient, seven years ago, was a copper-colored negro without a white spot on his body. To-day fully fifteen-sixteenths of his body is as white as that of any member of the Caucasian race, and he is still growing. The treatment has been unsatisfactory. Some reports of success from electricity have been made. Local applications of various sorts of substances are resorted to with the view of rendering the white regions less noticeable. Blistering the patches to excite a desire of new growth has been tried, but the results are not brilliant.

whitened spots are that their borders is usually convex, giving the impression that they are like little dark islands surrounded by a sea of normal skin.

In their advance the pigment before them; that there is no change in the structure, sensations, or functions of the skin, and that their tendency is to persist and to increase in extent, being little affected by any treatment.

"It is an acquired disease, coming on usually in the early adult life without previous ill health, though in some instances it has been known to follow long intervals of some time. It is not uncommon for a single mole to have increased deposit in a neighboring part due to an atrophy and hypertrophy in the respective nerve trunks, so that the entire well-extensive regions of the body had lost their pigment and the negro was fearful that he was turning into a white man. The negro's skin is not white, but the cause of the condition is usually ascribed to perverted innervation. It is probable that the disappearance of the pigment in the skin is due to an increased deposit in a neighboring part due to an atrophy and hypertrophy in the respective nerve trunks. Sometimes, though rarely, the proper proportion of pigmentation spontaneously restored, but often tend to increase and the condition to assume marked chronicity. When large extensive areas are involved the treatment becomes inappropriate. The treatment is unsatisfactory. Some reports of success from electricity have been made. Local applications of various sorts of substances are resorted to with the view of rendering the white regions less noticeable. CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY TO
BE INVESTIGATED.

MAY GET INTO THE COURTS.

Manager John W. Holmes of the Humane Society Will "Read the Biot Act."

John H. Holmes, Manager of the Humane Society of Missouri, intends to investigate the Children's Home Society of Missouri. He has been reading the Post-Dispatch articles on the condition of the little ones in the home at 1023 Olive street, and has become convinced that unless the method he will be obliged to exercise his authority to prevent cruelty to children.

Mr. Holmes has sent word to the Olive street home that he desires to be informed when and where the next meeting of the Ladies' Board will be held.

A proposition was submitted that in the event of the proposed change their home would be turned over to the Womans' Auxiliary and took personal charge of the home. Mrs. Abrams, the ex-matron, and another member of the board, will be the ones who will undertake to run the home.

The revelations of bad management in the home have been so numerous that all expected that all would attend and that the subject of the home would be discussed.

An important happening booked for Tuesday was the meeting of the Board of the Olive street home at the Emilie building.

It was the regular monthly meeting, and as the afternoon hour approached the doors were closed and the members of the board wended their way to the office.
